

STOCKS QUIET BUT STRONG.

Improvement in the Monetary Situation Is Having Effect.

Over a Million in Clearing-House Certificates to Be Cancelled.

Affairs in Wall street were extremely quiet this morning. There is considerable disappointment that the Senate is so dilatory in its work as the delay is holding general business throughout the country as well as speculation in check.

The strength of stocks under the circumstances is surprising, prices generally having improved again this morning. The fact is that the market is so quiet that the money market has been encouraged by a few leading operators to give their favorite support and force the shorts to cover.

Manhattan rose 1 to 12 3/4, Richmond Terminal first mortgage paid 1 1/2, do, second 7 1/2 to 4 3/4, do, preferred 1 1/2 to 1 1/2, American Sugar 2 1/2 to 9 3/4, American Cotton Oil 1 1/4 to 3 1/2, Lackawanna 1 to 1 1/2, General Electric 1 1/4 to 4 7/8 and Western Union 2 to 8 3/4.

The Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange at its meeting held yesterday afternoon decided to cancel the list of 1,000,000 securities.

The Bank of England directors have reduced the bank rate of discount from 5 to 4 per cent. The weekly statement shows an increase in the amount of 1,000,000, and in reserve of 1,000,000. Its proportion of reserve to liabilities is 52.56 per cent, against 52.20 last week and 48.52 last year.

Speculation came practically to a standstill this afternoon but the undertone continued firm. The reduction in the Bank of England discount rate and the cancellation of loan certificates were favorable to higher prices.

On the other hand, the uncertainty in regard to the St. Paul dividend, which will be acted upon later in the day, tended to restrict operations.

The improvement in the monetary situation is clearly reflected in the steady increase of Clearing-House loan certificates. The sum of $30,000,000 was cancelled today, and application was received for the withdrawal of $30,000,000 more.

The banks are granting more liberal accommodations to merchants, and strictly prime names sell at 8 to 10 per cent, with exceptional transactions at 12 to 15 per cent in increasing amounts.

The Sub-Treasury had a debit balance of $100,000,000 in the morning of $100,000,000, which was liquidated as follows: $100,000,000 in coin and $7,500,000 in United States notes.

Foreign exchange is quiet and barely steady. The market was not influenced to any great extent by the reduction in the Bank of England discount rate.

Bankers' long gold at 1.82 1/2 and 1/2 and demand at 1.84 1/2 and 1/2.

THERON G. STRONG, RECEIVER.

Voluntary Dissolution of the George R. Bidwell Cycle Co. Sought.

Judge McAdam, in the Superior Court, today appointed Theron G. Strong receiver of the property of the George R. Bidwell Cycle Company.

The company, taken at the instance of the Trustees of the company, the Trustees are George H. Bidwell, George S. Adams, William B. Krug and Anderson C. D. Lusk.

Mr. Strong, who is a lawyer, was appointed at the instance of the Trustees and the Receiver Bidwell Company, one of the largest creditors of the concern.

The company was organized in February, 1929, with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $25,000 was paid in cash and $75,000 in property. It now has large outstanding obligations.

A large number of bills and accounts receivable have not been paid, and it is unable to make collections sufficient to meet outstanding obligations. Several suits are also pending against the company, and judgments are threatened.

The receiver is appointed to wind up the affairs of the company, and all persons interested are ordered to show cause Dec. 18 next why the petition for dissolution should not be granted.

NEWMAN & CO. CONTINUE.

Their Creditors Vote to Grant Them an Extension of Time.

Henry Newman & Co., importers and wholesale dealers in clothing, supplies at 62 and 64 Broadway, who were forced to seek the aid of their creditors, will continue business without any interruption. They formally asked for an extension on their obligations of eight, twelve and fifteen months. Their assets are $24,115, with liabilities of $12,000.

Mr. Newman, senior member of the firm, this morning said:

"Everything has been arranged in a satisfactory manner. We have over $100,000 surplus and the bank and merchants' creditors have unanimously decided to grant the extension.

This was done at a meeting held at the Metropolitan Hotel Tuesday, Sept. 12, when the directors of the bank, representing over half a million dollars, at the same time the financial condition of the bank was discussed.

In 1884 I was in financial trouble, owing $20,000 more than I do today, but I pulled through and paid 100 cents on the dollar.

The latter's widow and her family are almost destitute.

Nearly two years have elapsed since Patrick Mitchell was knocked down and killed, in sight of his wife and seven children, by William Cody, a saloon-keeper, of 129 Christopher street. No attempt has since been made to bring the latter to trial. Only himself openly boasted that he would have his case "boiled" in court. That, in fact, he would never be punished for the alleged crime.

Several prominent women of New York have taken up the cause of Mitchell's widow, among them being Mrs. Flower, sister-in-law of the Governor. She was one of a number who signed a petition or request to the District Attorney asking him to bring the case to trial as speedily as possible.

The killing of Mitchell can scarcely be called a murder, for no one believes that Saloon-keeper Cody meant to kill him.

It was on Sept. 23, 1891, that it occurred. Mitchell, who lived next door to the saloon-keeper, after returning from a hard day's work, went out for some beer to take with his dinner.

At the time he was playing with a number of other boys, and the latter, who was a saloon-keeper, saw him and hit him on the head with a brick, which he had just thrown. Cody, coming up behind Mitchell, struck him on the head, knocking him down. Before the man could be summoned the man had fled.

Only offered the widow $100 to pay for funeral expenses, but she indignantly refused it. Instead she brought suit through Lawyer Charles Stecker, and in October last a jury awarded her $25,000 damages. Notice of appeal was promptly served, and there the matter has rested ever since. The saloon-keeper was arrested and indicted, but he has yet to be tried.

Mrs. Mitchell is now in really destitute circumstances. She tried hard at first to keep her seven children around her, but she had to send them to the orphanage. They were held at the orphanage for a debt she contracted when leaving Europe.

She borrowed thirty dollars from a fellow passenger, saying that her husband would repay it when she arrived at New York.

When they arrived here Monday the husband called at Ellis Island for his wife, but she could not be liberated until the money was paid.

The husband crumpled and went away saying he would come back that day. He did not see her until today.
